THE OPERATOR'S TOOLKIT · WEDNESDAY 4

Who is this site actually for?

Profile one site in a week: who's outside, when, and what they'd spend if you served them.

SWIPE FOR THE PROFILE

STEP 1

Find the peak

Till report: guests by day and by hour, for the last eight weeks. The two or three busiest hours are the peak.

EXAMPLE	SITE 1	SITE 10
Street	By a station	Residential
Peak	Weekdays, 7 to 9am	Weekend late mornings

Count guests or orders, not sales. One big catering order can fake a peak.

STEP 2

Watch 20 guests at the peak

Stand where you can see the door. For each guest: who they are, and whether they're in a hurry or staying.

AT THE PEAK	SITE 1	SITE 10
Who	Commuters	Locals
Hurry or stay	In a hurry, to go	They stay
Spend a head	£6	£7

Watch, don't ask. Write what you see, not who you hoped to serve.

STEP 3

Check the offer fits the guest

What does the site sell at its peak? Is it built for the guests you just watched?

SITE 10 ON A SATURDAY

Guests who stay	200
Sold	SITE 1's menu
A coffee and a pastry, to go	£7

Guests who stay, served a menu built for guests in a hurry. That's a mismatch, and it's where the money is.

STEP 4

Price what they'd spend

From your own menu, price an offer built for them. Then multiply by the guests at the peak.

SITE 10: 200 SATURDAY GUESTS
Now: 200 × £7	£1,400
With a brunch: 200 × £11	£2,200
Upside a week	+£800

£13,000 + £800 = £13,800 a week: past SITE 10's £13,520 break-even.

The £11 is a test, not a forecast. Run it for four weeks before you count the money.

STEP 5

Write the site's line

"SITE 10 is for locals on Saturday late mornings, who stay."

Then set three things at that site for that line:

MENU HOURS ROTA

Same brand, same name above the door. Each site set for the guests on its own street.

If you can't fill the line in, you haven't watched the peak yet.

YOUR SITE

Fill it in

A	The peak busiest days and hours	_____
B	Who's there from watching 20 guests	_____
C	In a hurry or staying?	_____
D	Guests at the peak, a week	_____
E	Spend a head now	£ _____
F	Spend a head to test an offer built for B	£ _____
G	Upside a week D × (F – E)	£ _____

This site is for _____ on _____, _____.

RUNNING MORE THAN ONE SITE?

Comment SITE for the multi-site version.

Every site's profile side by side: who it's for, whether the offer fits, the upside, and the line for each manager.

Watch Monday's episode of The Operator's Ledger, "Segment, target, position", on the WRW Hospitality page.

WRW HOSPITALITY
Wesley Williams

Illustrative figures. Free for use in your own business; not to be resold, rebranded or redistributed.

© 2026 WRW HOSPITALITY